New Volume, New Type, Old Friendships, and New Attractions.

The publishers of the United States Saturday Post feel constrained to make again their acknowledgements to the reading public for the liberal support which their paper receives. To show that they are not unmindful of the return which such patronage requires, it would be entirely sufficient to refer the reader to the nation of this paper. As a newspaper, de-pendent upon public patronage, "grows by what it feeds on," the publishers flat-ter themselves that the Post has increased in interest and value, with the steady and gratifying support which has been ac corded to it, for a period of a quarter of a century. In this time, which has served for the life and death of whole generations of periodicals, and the rise, meridi has kept the even tenor of its way, by its own intrinsic health and strength--now ollowing, oftener leading the public taste, but not departing from its independence to minister to the transient news-News Department, to present the latest the new and ardu as position they have and vest authenticated intelligence, di and resting soiely on tie basis of truth as port which they shall receive at the hands to select and publish intelligence of value State of the West, whose voice in the Na and importance to creizens engaged in tional Conneils is so important and whose all the three great interests, Agriculture example, in the management of their incal totalligence we recognize only one influence upon all quarters of the Union, party; and that is our country -- our whole country. Togice the Saturday Post an importance beyond that temporary one which it derives from being the record of cur- taking. They have brought to its support rent events, and to make it acceptable to the family circle, we give to its columns the character of a weekly magazine, embracing Original Tales and Sketches, Original Verse and Essays, History and discharge of important duties, which is Historiettes Biography and Legends, Science and Statistics, Revolutionary Annals, Moral Tales and Traits of Character, Original Comments on Notables, wit and Humor; in a word, such a variety of matter as, (our own country first remembered.) the whole literature of the world may offer. PROSPECTUS

Or THE Ohio Statesman.

The undersigned respectfully announce to the Democracy of Ohio, that they have purchased of Col. Samuel Medary all his nterest in the Ohio Statesman, from and after the 1st of July, 1845. The paper will, as beretofore, advocate, unflinchingly, Democratic Principles and measures, and give the strongest support to the regestablished character of the Fireside utarty nominated candidates of the demo-Priend, which is pre-eminently the desig- cratic party, that it will be in the power of the undersigned to afford. To firmly support the National Administration-to maintain the right of this country to the territory of Oregon-to aphold the great doctrine of the sovereignty of the people, as contended for by the patriot Dorr-to contend for the adjustment of the tariff in such a manner as shall do justice to the great Agricultural interests of the West, to labor for a settlement of the National an and decline of many a rival, the Post Finance question in a way that shall prevent the public money from becoming the means of individual aggrandizement, and to strennously support any measure calculated to make the laws of Ohio embodiments of the principles of Liberty and Epaper follies, which, compared to the quality, and to give to the State a sound Post, are indeed ephemeral. We shall corrency; -- these are the objects which continue in this path, endeavoring, in the the undersigned propose to themselves in assumed. Their success must depend up vested of party the and interested bias, on the amount and character of the supfar as it is ascertainable. We endeavor of the Democracy of the great Empire ternal affairs is destined to exert a vast and particularly to give a character to the legislation of the new communities which are constantly arising and demanding to be admitted to the rights and privileges enjoyed by the members of the confederacy.

The undersigned have invested a large amount of capital in their present underwhatever of talent they possess. Their interest is identical with that of the West; and there is no incentive to exertion, no motive which can incite men to a faithful not moving them to labor for the good of that portion of the confederacy into whose hands the physical and moral powers of the nation are rapidly passing. Under these circumstances, they are privileged to ask for that support, and look for that confidence from the Democracy of Ohio, without which all their labors must be worse than performed in vain.

The undersigned propose making some mechanical improvements in the paper, which will render it more worthy the sup port of the public. A fair proportion of the paper will be devoted to miscellane ous reading and news matter.

NEW SERIES OF THE Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The undersigned originated the mode of Journalizing the proceedings of Con-gress, which presented them entire. Their publication was the first and only one that gave each successive step in every measure in both branches of Congress; a brief of all the debates; every important vote; and an Appendix, including at full length all the revised speeches delivered during the session. The work thus conducted by them is a most perfect political history .-The Senators from the States and the Representatives from every section of the Unnion bring with them into Congress a knowledge of the feelings, sentiments, and interests of their several constituencies. Public opinion and the public information, as it exists among those they represent are embodied by them; and in the crucible of Congress the wisdom of our times is brought to its test, and is there concentrated, in directing the political movements of the whole country. The mpulses thus given through Congress from every quarter react upon the nation as a whole, and all its component parts are made to move in co-operation. The press cannot be more usefully employed than in condensing and again spreading abroad he intelligence of our free country, tending to such happy results through our almost miraculously adjusted State and Na ional institutions. Having identified ourselves with the plan of advancing the usefulness of Conress by publishing full and impartial reports, and having a large mass of the Congressional Globe and Appendix, issued dupublic if the work were discontinued, we Now, Brandreth's Pills not only purifies of the proceedings; and in important matthe blood, but they lessen the quantity at ters, where that will not assure us of the make it as perfect as it is possible for us news, &c.
